REFLECTIONS

A SATISFIED SOUL

A young man had just graduated from college and his dad had a special graduation gift for him. His dad said, "Son, I'm going to give you two houses and $250,000 to spend on home improvements. You can spend the money on either house, but the first house you will only live in for a year and the second house you will live in for the rest of your life."

Which house do you think the son would choose to spend his money on? A house that he will live in for a year, or a house he will live in for the rest of his life?

Our life here on this earth is like the first house. We can pour our souls into getting the most out of this world as we possibly can. But the enjoyment is temporary and in the end we will be left with nothing but an empty, unsatisfied soul.

However, if we pour our souls into getting the most out of our relationship with God as we possible can, we will find the greatest joy both now and forever and our souls will be full and satisfied.
