REFLECTIONS

HOPE OF THE NATION

“Train up a child In the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.” Proverbs 22:6

Where is the center of power in this world? TV says it is in wealth and political office or stardom. But we have a different assessment. When the former editor of the Atlanta Journal - Constitution, Henry Woodfin Grady, traveled to Washington to collect information for a series of editorials, he exclaimed upon arrival, “And this is the Capitol of the United States.”

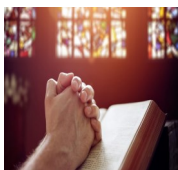

On his way home several days later, this famed public speaker and editorialist spent one night with a family of modest means. But before bedtime, the dad invited Grady to join in the family Bible reading and prayer. He did.

When Grady got back to Atlanta, he wrote: “I have been to the Capitol of the United States, but it is not in Washington; it is in the American home where children [can hear parents read about]... the teaching of Christ.” He concluded, that’s where “the strength of our country lies.”

Being in the Word of God is a more powerful and important place than any government seat of authority. Praying to the God of creation is connecting to true power.
